

[Method and Apparatus for Treatment of Biological Material]

Abstract of Disclosure

Method, container set, cassette and apparatus for the treatment of blood and blood products. A container set is arranged in a cassette that is inserted in a treatment apparatus. The process involves mixture with an agent, followed by irradiation and incubation, whereby the liquid is moved between containers through application of program controlled pressure pads and valves.

Figures